TWO BITS FARE ON CITY BUS

Transportation Manager
Gives Price Schedule
If Permitted
SERVE ENTIRE CITY

Long Term Books Will Be Sold; Single Trip to
Be 15 Cents

Fares to be charged on the municipal bus line proposed to be operated between Glendale and Los Angeles were made public today by C. D. Gulick, manager of transportation and busses for this city. The round trip from North Glendale to Los Angeles would be 25 cents. The one way cash fare would be 15 cents. A 62-ride ticket book, covering the same territory would be sold for $5.58. This ticket book is a family book and will be good for at least 90 days. The long time limit of the 62-ride family book would eliminate the 10 and 30 ride books.

From Cypress avenue and San Fernando road the one way fare to Los Angeles will be 10 cents and the round trip 15 cents. The 62-ride book from this point will cost $4.50. All local fares, in Glendale will not exceed 5 cents. The local service in this city would be operated separate from the inter-city line and will provide a 15 to 20 minute service to all four sections of the city. The schedule to be followed between Los Angeles and Glendale calls for a 6-minute interval between busses.

The local bus line will serve all sections of the city. The people living in South Glendale, formerly Tropic, will catch the local bus at San Fernando road and Brand boulevard.

RAIL AND COAL UNIONS ALLIANCE IS FORMING

Conference of Executives of Both International Bodies Scheduled

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 11.—Concerted action by America's two greatest trade unions against wage reductions and the open shop will be discussed at a meeting in Chicago on February 21 between representatives of railroad workers and coal miners' unions.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, today announced that all except one of the great railroad unions had accepted his invitation to attend the meeting with the miners.

This one may take favorable action later, Lewis said.

The meeting was called by the miners' president when mine operators refused to meet mine union officials to draw up a new working agreement to supplement the present contract which expires April 1.

Action of the mine operators in refusing to meet union representatives was taken by the miners to mean the declaration of the open shop.

Wage reductions have also been announced by many mines.

Railroad unions have been battling against the open shop for some time. Action of leading railroads, such as the Pennsylvania, in declaring an open shop in some lines of work has led the unions to the verge of a strike—several times within a year.

The shop crafts, where the open shop fight has been particularly bitter, now has a strike vote against the action of the railroads.

However, officials of the shop workers' union so far have never believed conditions ripe for a strike.

These union officials, however, have recently expressed their opinion that combination of miners and railroad workers might result in a situation which would insure the success of a strike.

It is known that before Lewis issued the formal invitation to the Chicago meeting he had assurances from the railroad union heads that they would look favorably upon such a conference.

Now it is believed that before setting the date of the meeting, Lewis was assured by the rail union heads that they would look favorably upon an "economic alliance" which would present a united front against employers' efforts to force the open shop and cut wages.

Lewis asked the rail men to pool their interests severally with those of the miners. Upon the interpretation of the word "unreservedly" will depend whether the railroads shall walk out with the miners at midnight, March 31.

The American Federation of Labor and individual unions have assured the United Mine Workers of moral support and some have gone so far as to offer loans of money if the fight continues to the point where the resources of the miners would be taxed.

Character Is Read In Style of Necktie Asserts Henry James

Character may be read in the style of tie a man wears or the circumstance that he neglects his nails.

This is what Henry James in his comments this evening says in discussing the claim that character can be read by handwriting. And he doesn't want to see the army reduced to 100,000 and he says that Germany has a hard hill to climb and could not speed up any with Russia strapped to its back.

Mr. James strikes many currents in his comments and drifts along from one subject to another with great ease. That is what makes his work so interesting.

James W. Foley in "The Listening Post" has something to cause the thoughtful person to ponder a moment. He says that we need to take a lot of thought for today. It is here vital, important and the task of today must be attended to. You will find profit in reading Mr. Foley's philosophy tonight.

And to commemorate the anniversary of Abraham Lincoln you will find an editorial that is worthy a place in any newspaper or magazine published.

It is the expression of admiration and respect for a great man that every true American will like. Read it.

ACID TEST APPLIED TO ARMS PACTS

To Be Checked for Violations of National Traditions

CLOSELY CHECKED
Seven of Foreign Relations Committee May Oppose

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The treaties of Washington must withstand the acid test, under which the Versailles treaty failed, or they, too, will be fought to a finish by determined senators.

This was the decision today of a small but powerful group of republicans, all that is left of the "irreconcilable" battalion which caused rejection of the league of nations covenant.

If the seven treaties submitted late yesterday for senate ratification by President Harding can withstand this test, the "irreconcilables" will not fight them. The test to be applied is whether the treaties constitute infringement upon the traditional American doctrine of no alliances, no foreign entanglements, no surrender of American sovereignty. While the foreign relations committee today set its first formal consideration of the treaties, the "acid test group" put the pact and the report of the American delegation under searching scrutiny. Three members of the group—Borah, Johnson and Brandegee—are members of the foreign relations committee. Their first step was to ask more complete information if possible than these treaties and the official report afford as to the underlying motives and the exact methods entering into various provisions of the treaties. This may mean considerable delay in reporting the treaties to the senate.

SUMMER STUDY OF CANAL IS U. SUBJECT

Value of Los Angeles Harbor to Be Described

The harbor of Los Angeles and its importance as a Pacific port will be described by Professor Whittlesey of the University of Chicago, in the course of his lectures on the geography of the Pacific, to be given at the State University buildings on Vermont avenue this summer. The interests of America, Japan, China, Great Britain and France in the Pacific have been investigated by Professor Whittlesey. He will describe the various valuable ports and show the commercial importance of each. The fact that the Los Angeles harbor lies within easy access of the Panama canal makes it an outstanding feature of the lecture.

Professor Whittlesey is carrying on through this medium is being noted and recognized throughout the west.

Courses of general interest in this department are "Fundamentals of Geography," "Geography of the United States," and "The Teaching of Geography."

YAP PACT IS READY TO SIGN

Treaty to Be Signed Today by United States and Japan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A treaty will be formally signed between the United States and Japan today finally settling the famous Yap controversy.

This treaty will be signed at 2 o'clock in the state department by Secretary of State Hughes and Baron Shidehara, the Japanese ambassador here. These two men negotiated the settlement embodied in the treaty.

The Yap treaty also clears up another question concerning the four-power Pacific pact, as one of the reservations of the United States to that treaty was that there must be a satisfactory settlement between the United States and Japan regarding the status of Yap and the other former German islands in the Pacific north of the mandate.

Briefly, the treaty provides the United States shall have free access to Yap on entire equality with Japan or any other nation in everything regarding the landing or operation of the existing Yap-Guam cable or any cable hereafter laid by the United States or its nationals; and the United States and nationals will be accorded the same rights and privileges in radio telegraphic service as in cables, except that so long as Japan maintains a satisfactory radio telegraph station on the island of Yap the United States and its nationals will not establish such stations on the island.

One of the hardest games scheduled in the A. A. U. basketball championship series will be played in Glendale tonight when the Co. M. team of the National Guard meets the Larry Semon quintette in the high school gymnasium. The Larry Semon team has a reputation of being one of the strongest in the A. A. U. and has three wins to its credit. The Glendale team has an equal number of wins.

The team representing the Glendale company of the guards in the A. A. U. is the same five men who recently won the championship of the 160th regiment National Guards for the Glendale companies.

or its nationals; and the United States and nationals will be accorded the same rights and privileges in radio telegraphic service as in cables, except that so long as Japan maintains a satisfactory radio telegraph station on the island of Yap the United States and its nationals will not establish such stations on the island.

Plans are materializing in a very satisfactory way for the birthday program of the Glendale Music Club which is to be given Friday evening, February 17, in the banquet hall of the chamber of commerce building. A delightful evening is promised and it is expected that one hundred new members will be added to the enrollment as a birthday present.

Captains of the original teams in the drive which the club had a few months ago will get busy and they believe it will not be difficult to find one hundred more citizens glad to become identified with this flourishing organization, and the club plans to increase its initiation fee another year.

STEEL ON WAY FOR NEW HOTEL. According to the latest reports work will soon start on the new Glendale hotel, corner Glendale avenue and Broadway. Word has just been received by the promoter that the first shipment of steel for this structure is now en route to Glendale. It is expected that this material will arrive within the next few days.

BOULDER HOLDS UP P. E. At an early hour this morning a large boulder was dislodged by the rain from the hillside near the Ivanhoe station, whereupon it rolled down the hill and onto the Pacific Electric tracks at that point. The motorman of the next P. E. car bound for Glendale did not see this boulder until it was too late to escape hitting it. The boulder was of considerable size and the occupants were considerably shaken up.

GLENDALE RAINFALL. Preston's rain gauge has recorded a rainfall of .80 of an inch during the past 24 hours, or 3.35 inches the storm, bringing the total precipitation for the season to 7.45 inches as compared with 7.45 inches last year at this time. The snow grows heavier as an approach is made to the hills, Sierra Nevada and other foothill districts reporting a total of 32 inches.

CANADIAN LIQUOR SEIZED. Feb. 11.—Going on the assumption that the more liquor there is in British Columbia the greater will be the amount smuggled into Washington. Prohibition Director Roy C. Lyle has blocked the shipment of 32,500 cases of whiskey through this state into Canada in the last ten days.

Incidentally, the arrival and stop of the first through train should be celebrated at the time by a brass band, or a delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce, which is responsible for the improvement in service.

Glendale has pursued the Southern Pacific and there is volume of trade here to justify the stopping. The Southern Pacific should be shown that the traffic is here. The only way it can be shown is by buying your transportation here and permitting your home town to get the credit for your travel.

If you go to Los Angeles and buy your transportation there, the railroad loses your identity in the Los Angeles traffic on the line.

The railroad officials know considerable traffic originates here. They would like to see Glendale turn in a volume of receipts. The better Glendale shows up in the statistics of receipts, the better Glendale will be treated by the company.

By piling high the transportation figures at Glendale, you are possibly building a modern depot right in the city. This without cost, but directly as the result of your home town loyalty.

Incidentally, the arrival and stop of the first through train should be celebrated at the time by a brass band, or a delegation of members of the Chamber of Commerce, which is responsible for the improvement in service.

FILM STAR TELLS HER OWN STORY

Mabel Normand Relates in Detail Her Visit to Taylor

TALE IS UNSHAKEN
Discusses Freely of the Last Hours of Slain Director's Life

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—Hope of an immediate arrest in the William D. Taylor murder case was apparently shattered here today upon receipt of a telephone report at the district attorney's office from field operatives that steps toward taking the suspect into custody would be impractical now.

By MABEL NORMAND (Written for the United Press) (Copyright, 1922, by United Press.) LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11.—"This is my own story of just what happened on the night of my last visit to William D. Taylor, the evening of February 1.

"In response to a telephone call left by Mr. Taylor at my home during the afternoon of the day he was killed, I stopped at his house between 7 and 7:15 in the evening.

"The purpose of my call was to pick up a book which Mr. Taylor had purchased for me that afternoon, knowing particularly that I wanted it. He had already sent one book to my home, but had requested me to stop for this one, which I assumed he had purchased later.

"Upon my arrival I was let into the house by Henry Peavey, Mr. Taylor's valet, who informed me that Mr. Taylor was conversing with some one over the telephone. In a few moments after my arrival Mr. Taylor said goodbye to me.

CIVIL WARFARE RAGES IN NEW IRISH REPUBLIC. Provisional Government Plans Drastic Means to Check Radicals

DUBLIN, Feb. 11.—The situation in the south of Ireland today had become so serious that the meeting of the Dail Eireann, scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until February 23.

Four counties were paralyzed by a rail strike and feeling ran high as a result of armed clashes along the Tyrone border.

The provisional government was today expected to take drastic measures to end the temporary rule of strikers who seized the rail road station at Cork, cutting off food and communication by rail and all towns along the 200 miles of track.

The strikers planned to run trains themselves today.

Postponement of the Dail meeting, at which De Valera and his followers are expected to resume their fight against the treaty and the provisional government, has materially strengthened the hands of the radicals.

ULSTER BLAMES IRISH PRESIDENT. BELFAST, Feb. 11.—With Ulster volunteers and Irish republican pickets facing each other across the border line, another battle on the Tyrone frontier was threatened today.

Fighting broke out here late last night, but was quickly quelled with only two casualties.

The failure of the southern provisional government to move quickly in effecting the release of the captive Ulster men, seized in border raids Wednesday and Thursday, has heightened the bitter feeling here.

No sympathy is expressed for the dilemma in which Michael Collins, as head of the provisional government, finds himself. There is a tendency to blame the provisional leaders themselves for the trouble.

Excelsior Numbers Are Heard by Sixty Members

One of the finest programs the music section of the Tuesday afternoon club has ever given was enjoyed Friday at the home of Mrs. Frank Arnold on East Lomita, about 60 members and guests being present. It had been arranged by Mrs. Warren Roberts and was a delightfully varied assortment of modern music charmingly interpreted.

Mrs. Paul Hoffman gave a most unusual and interesting talk on modern composers, which made a fitting prelude to the numbers which followed. These included: Piano solos by Miss Helene Constance Morgan, "In Autumn," "Ethereal," and "Chloe."

Vocal solos by Mrs. Nanna King Custer, "Marguerite," (White); "At Dawning," (Cadmian); "Ave Maria," (Schubert), and "Vale" (Kennedy Russell). She was accompanied by Mrs. Enona Hopkins on the harp, and Miss Neva Chibbig, violinist.

Vocal solos by Mrs. Alice Farish, "In the Woods," (Bizet); "Life's Paradise," and "Morn's Wind," (Dranscomb). Mrs. Farish has a very beautiful voice which was heard to advantage in the selections mentioned and she had a symphony accompanist in Mrs. Spencer Robinson.

Arioso Trio composed of Mrs. Enona Hopkins, harpist; her sister, Miss Mamie Smith, violinist, and Miss Neva Chibbig, violinist; "Barcarolle," (Offenbach); "Surcease." These were followed by "In Twilight Hour," played in solo by Mrs. Hopkins, and an encore number.

Mrs. Arnold was assisted by Mrs. Lou V. Sherman, Mrs. Alma Gibbs, and Mrs. Bert Ward. During a social half hour which followed the program refreshments were served.

Action on the application was promised some time next week. Mr. Gulick is going before the board again on Monday in an attempt to speed up action on the permit. It is possible that City Manager W. H. Reeves and members of the city council will accompany him.

In the permit filed Thursday Mr. Gulick stated: "Answering the utterances of one of your honorable members at my appearance before this board, to-wit: That this or any action by this board in granting a permit to the city of Glendale may establish a precedent and thereby perhaps invite many of the surrounding cities in the vicinity of Los Angeles to immediately follow the example of praying for permission to operate

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

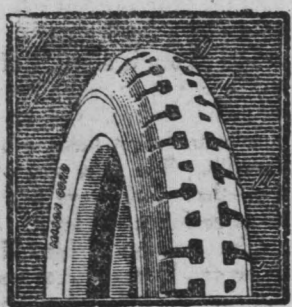

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

Some report will probably be made at the Friday evening meeting of tentative plans of the triple committees—lot, location and building, which have been instructed to get busy on promotion work for a post home.

Members who have not heretofore been posted will be glad to learn through the letter mentioned that the post is to have a basket ball team and practice has begun in the high school gym. Comrades who have played the game are requested to report for practice.

Other announcements include news of the dance to be given the latter part of February.

FIGHT FOR BONUS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Congress today faced a strong demand that the savings resulting from the arms conference be diverted toward paying the soldiers' bonus. It has been officially estimated that the government will save $200,000,000 a year from the naval holiday alone. And, on top of that, reductions in the army and navy personnel are certain to be a result of the arms conference agreements.

POST NO. 127 MEETS

The sick and relief committee of Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, made a very encouraging report regarding its activities at the meeting of the post last night. Capt. Thos. D. Watson, chairman of the committee, reported that a fair amount of money has already been contributed by the people of Glendale, to a fund that is being raised by the committee to carry on its work here. There are many cases where the sick and relief committee has come to the aid of some former soldier or his family at a time when assistance was needed. It is to carry on this work that the fund is being raised.

The building committee made an encouraging report regarding its work. It was announced that the inaugural ball of the post will be held next Friday night at Legion hall and take the place of the regular meeting. The recently elected officers will be the guests of honor at the ball. The social side of the affair will be in charge of the women's auxiliary.

Plans are being formulated by the program committee to have Henry Wright, of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, visit the local post on February 24 and address the members. During the past two weeks the Legion has secured jobs for six men who applied for work.

A veteran of the World War and a member of the American Legion, wounded and gassed in the Argonne Forest, is a patient in the Thornycroft sanitarium for disabled soldiers and his mother is seeking a small house in or near Glendale. She feels that her son, who has been a patient in government hospitals for the past year and a half, would be benefited by moving into a home of his own.

The mother is seeking a five-room furnished house with a fireplace and southern exposure if possible. This is not a charity case but a matter of helping this mother find a home for her boy, who gave his health for the nation. The mother says that she prefers a quiet neighborhood and will be satisfied to move into the country.

The son, who was a member of the 89th division overseas, is totally disabled as far as working is concerned. He was wounded and gassed in the Argonne Forest, where he was on special duty with the French army. Anyone who has a house that they will rent to this mother and son or anyone knowing where such a house can be found will be doing a great service if they notify Captain Thomas D. Watson, chairman of the sick and relief committee of the Glendale post No. 127, American Legion. He can be found at the Glendale Daily Press every day.

The disabled veterans of the world war at Thornycroft sanitarium are still in need of more equipment for their recreation hall. The most urgent need is for a writing desk of some kind. They also need records for a Columbia gramophone as well as money to pay for equipment already purchased. About $125 is needed.

If there is anyone in Glendale who can help these men in any way, they are asked to communicate with Capt. Thos. D. Watson at the Glendale Daily Press, who is chairman of the local Legion post.

C. H. KIRKMAN TO OPEN ON TUESDAY

The opening of the C. H. Kirkman stationery store, 141 South Brand boulevard, will take place next Tuesday morning. Mr. Kirkman, proprietor of this establishment, was for many years foreman in the plant of the Neuner company, one of the largest dealers in office supplies in Los Angeles. He knows the stationery business from beginning to end and promises the people of Glendale first-class service along this line.

"While connected with the Neuner company," said Mr. Kirkman this morning, "I took in a great deal of work from Glendale. I can give these people the same service they get in Los Angeles, and can save them considerable money, part of which will be the delivery charges. I have had my eye on Glendale for a long time, and in starting in business here I have come to stay."

Mr. Kirkman has just purchased a home at 630 North Jackson street.

SPOONER CAPTURES PANTS

R. C. Spooner laid his trousers on a chair near the bed in his home, 336 North Orange street, when he went to bed last night. This morning J. H. Jackson of 332 North Orange found the trousers on his porch. Patrolmen McLean and Stein took them in to headquarters. Later Mr. Spooner telephoned the police station regarding his missing garment. He was told the trousers were at the station, awaiting him.

The everyday Christian has seven chances to the Sunday fellows' one.

Glendale Church Services

The classes close Saturday night and the Glendale people from the Central Christian church have been attending. They included Mrs. C. A. Cole, Mrs. Lay, Miss Roe, Miss Garnet Peters, Miss Alice Mercer, Alton Mattice and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mercer. WEATHER BIG HELP MOTOR SALES, AGENT

"Rain or shine the people of Glendale buy automobiles," said George T. Smith, Overland and Willy-Knight, 328 South Brand boulevard. "The sale of used cars that we are conducting is meeting with unusual response on the part of the automobile buyers of Glendale. This proves to us that the people in general realize the value of owning a car of their own. They are aware to the fact that the auto can be made the source of much pleasure. We know definitely that a number of people have purchased cars in which to make their daily trips to and from Los Angeles, rather than pay the excessive street car rates now charged over the Pacific Electric."

In this sale various makes of cars are being offered, these including Overlands, Buicks, Oaklands, Chevrolets, etc., and none of these machines are priced at higher than $500. A pleasing part about this sale is that any of these used cars may be driven away on a down payment of $50, the remainder being payable in small monthly installments. This firm claims to be offering its used cars at the exact price that at which those machines were taken in trade on new machines.

CLUB GARAGE MAN HAS HAPPY SMILE

"The world smiles and the car purrs along in fair weather," says Jack of the Club garage, "but what about the time when the storm of trouble comes, when the starter won't work, or the brake will not take hold or when it grabs, or when the inside of the pesky thing begins to rattle abnormally? Then for the time when the thoughts of the motorist naturally turn toward the faithful garage man, the fellow who has so often put the machine in working order—just as they do in the springtime to apple blossoms, balmy days and moonlit evenings."

This is wonderful composition for Jack, but the fact is that he knows far more about "fixing" automobiles than he does about creating pretty phrases. The watchword at the Club Garage, 141 East Colorado, is "Good service, courteous treatment and expert mechanical work."

MINORITY TAKE CARE BATTERIES

When you go out to the garage with a pitcher of distilled water in one hand and a battery hydrometer in the other, it may be satisfying to know that the minority of motor car owners are with you.

"The Willard company was curious to know," said Mr. Cizek, Willard service station dealer in Glendale, "how much care was given to the battery by its owner, so it put the question directly to 2046 owners. Of this group 30 per cent replied that they gave their batteries a great deal of attention, while 30 per cent admitted they paid very little attention to them, and 67 per cent stated they did not do anything at all. "It is doubtful if there is any other common automobile task, with the possible exception of oiling, that pays such big dividends in satisfaction and actual money as does the slight attention necessary to keep the battery fit."

FORD EXPERTS PLEASE PATRONS

"The only trouble with your style of auto repairing," a fellow told us the other day," said Mr. Cox of Cox & Sam, the Ford experts on North Louise street, this morning, "is that your work is very deceiving. When I took my car out of your shop it ran like a Packard instead of a Ford. But that is nothing unusual for us. We endeavor to make every car brought to us run better than it ever did before. If we fail to do this we feel that we have not done the very best possible job. Our aim is to do the best work at the smallest cost. Our prices for different pieces of work are down in black and white so that customers may know before hand just what a job is going to cost."

GOOD MELODRAMA AT THE GLENDALE

"Stirring melodrama with all of the spectacular features and none of the crudities of this popular style of entertainment," is the classification that the motion picture officials have given to the new big Rex Beach production of his great Alaskan railroad story, "The Iron Trail," which will be the feature at the Glendale theatre, beginning Sunday. "Snow and ice, rain and thaw, and the feverish rush to lay the tracks of the pioneer railroad through the Alaskan wilderness before the terrible winter closed down on the workers, and the desperate opposition of enemies in high places that kept intense interest kindled from start to finish."

Truths in Epigram

But boundless risk must pay for boundless gain.—Mossis (1834-1896).

The purification of politics is an indecent dream.—Ingalls (1833-1900).

We can do without any article of luxury we have never had; but when once obtained, it is not in human nature to surrender it voluntarily.—Haliburton (1796-1865).

One hundred and thirteen years ago, now was born the man destined by his inherent qualities to be the great American. Surrounded by the humblest circumstances, the associate, but never the victim of ignorance, he rose above conditions to be a citizen of all the world, deemed by many the foremost individual of his race. More than a century after 1809, his natal year, he stands as an ideal. A man of mighty intellect, of lofty soul, of tender heart, of devotion to high principle, he appeared as though raised of God to meet an emergency that would have overwhelmed one of ordinary mould. His life has been an inspiration. His character has leavened the character of a people. The stamp of his genius, impressed on human affairs, is indelible.

There is a custom of mentioning Abraham Lincoln as the typical American. He was not this. So far he stands above the average that he is a lonely, isolated type of that which the American may hope to be. A nation of which he could be deemed typical would be a nation of supermen. There was about this gaunt and somber Kentuckian that which set him apart. One of the common people truly, yearning over them with a boundless love, he was not common. Genius may not be explained. In the Lincoln genesis there was nothing to give even faint promise of the plane to which he was to be elevated. Lacking school advantages, slowly he created opportunity. He grew mentally as he grew in stature. The time that called him to the presidential chair found him a giant among his fellows. The country needed him. In all the broad land there was not another equipped to respond to the crucial demand. The country needed Lincoln.

Humility ever was characteristic of Abraham Lincoln. As he took up the proffered burden it was with full realization that he must rely on divine wisdom. He was of simple, profound faith, strong in reverence. The idle talk as to whether he was religious or not, is the chatter of zealots. He had no cause to bind himself with sectarian ties. He lived his religion. It colored all his public utterances even as it shaped his conduct.

Lincoln was a man of sorrows, as the great teacher he revered had been a man of sorrows. Almost too grievous to be borne was the weary load, but under it he did not falter. To him the path of duty was clear as though suffused with radiance from above. In the most trying times he was hounded by his foes, harassed by mistaken friends. He maintained his temper, his poise and his convictions. He answered, when answer was necessary, without acrimony, without reproach. The lines of his benign face deepened, and his tall form stooped. But he did not complain. His spirit was at one with the spirit of Gethsemane that said "Father forgive them, they know not what they do."

Throughout life he was forced to combat an innate tendency towards melancholia. He had known the bitterness of personal disappointment. He had seen his proper ambitions thwarted, his dreams shattered. Perhaps it was for this reason that often he shocked his official associates with a seeming levity. Under all of this was a deep purpose.

It was difficult for Lincoln to be harsh. His impulse was in the direction of mercy always. He refrained from rebuking men he had chosen, for failure to carry out his plans, for he thought they meant well, though they would do better. He could not, without struggle, surrender his confidence in them.

Lincoln showed his greatness in nothing more than his selection of advisers. He took some whom he knew to be opposed to his policies, for he knew they were able and loyal, and he was aware that he could control them. Such a man was Stanton, the autocratic secretary of war, who at first sought to override his uncouth superior, this raw lawyer from the west. At such times Stanton found himself a veritable child. Lincoln was cool and logical, but adamant. Stanton learned to respect and to love him. He was that passing from the chamber where the martyred President lay dead said through tears "Now he belongs to the ages."

And Lincoln does belong to the ages, a majestic and abiding gift. Other crises may come, and to others be designated authority to deal with them, but the fame of Abraham Lincoln is as enduring as time.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the Lincoln career. There is no finer model, no more potent and uplifting influence. All this may be said without undue emphasis of the fact that he was an American. The truth concerning him is recognized throughout the world. Only recently an Englishman, John Drinkwater, wrote a play with Abraham Lincoln as the central figure. It was hailed by the English with acclaim as enthusiastic as though the hero had been their own blood and kin. Lord Charnwood is the author of a biography of Lincoln, most remarkable in its grasp of the facts, the mentality of the man, the nobility of his course. In more than one foreign capital stands the statue of this greatest American.

In all the millions who are born, pass their allotted span, and vanish, only here and there is one worthy of immortal fame. Such a man was Abraham Lincoln. It is the right of Americans to glory in his record, as they yearly at this date specifically recall his memory.

SNARING RICH HUSBANDS

A notorious woman who has been married to three millionaires, and divorced them all, is said to be writing a book explanatory of her methods. It will be a volume of instructions on the subject of snaring rich husbands. She thinks it will be a best-seller, and perhaps she is right.

There are peculiar social traits that have from time to time been cited as reflecting a common morality and intelligence. A woman who for any cause aside from the paths of conventionality is gain little. She suffers in her position. The doors that had swung open to her are prone to be shut in her face. She may have been led into error through ignorance, or the spell of a depraved man, which she had no inkling until it had ruined her as a sacrifice. Excuses are never received.

But the exceptional woman who defies all rules, who flaunts her degradation, and comes out of a series of unsavory messes in the spoils of campaign still in her possession, is to face a different atmosphere. Reporters interview her. Her wardrobe and jewels and fads are described with uncensored detail. She says she will write a book, and has no difficulty in finding a publisher.

So, a woman who appears to make it a law.

WAR ON THE BONUS

It is said that Senator Borah intends to wage a fight on the bonus plan. The gentleman is not a tactician. His emulation of the bull in a china shop is likely to be too close to the questionable bovine activity.

Doubtless Borah has a constitutional right to fight the bonus bill. His choice of ground upon which to fight it does him no credit. He declares that the passage of the bill by the republican party would be a definite effort to buy control of congress in much the manner that Newberry bought a seat in the senate.

This does not do justice either to the soldiers, asking passage of the bill, or the legislators who support it. They may be supporting it from principle, the principle that a pledge made is a pledge to be redeemed. They may be supporting it because pressure from their constituents is so strong as to amount to a command. That they will vote for the measure from the impulse of corruption is a serious charge, if taken seriously at all.

While Borah is so certain that his associates are crooked, he could not be surprised at some manifestation of displeasure on their part. Possibly they entertain an opinion of Borah, too.

The supreme court has held that instructions to a jury in a liquor trial may call attention to the fact that the Volstead act is being flagrantly violated, and that to uphold the constitution is a duty of citizenship. The defendant had objected to such instructions. It is cheering to know that the gentlemen of the supreme court bench do not lend approval to the bootlegger.

From time to time there crops out evidence that the traffic in illicit drugs has assumed proportions of which the public scarcely has an inkling. Drug addiction is a form of crime that involves many grave dangers. It is the basis for every type of crime. The peddler of dope is accessory to every offense named in the statutes. He is worse than a mere murderer. The victim of the habit should be isolated more rigorously than a leper, cured if possible, but restrained utterly until cured or killed by the effort to cure.

The happier some men are the more money they possess.

It isn't safe to bet on anything—especially a sure thing.

AMERICAN ART

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Some time ago a Chicago artist living in Paris delivered an address in America in which he severely criticized the work of American painters.

He also blew very hard the old familiar note that there is no American school of art. Likewise he emphasized that familiar statement upon which we were all brought up that France is the one country in which to learn art.

He referred rather contemptuously to American art in giving it the epithet of "mail order."

Furthermore he indulged in the well worn platitude that in America there is no artistic atmosphere.

About ninety per cent of this is bunk.

Art is not different from any other kind of human activity in that it follows the law of demand and supply. And in the case of art probably more than in any other instance demand means wealth. Art follows wealth.

There is no group of workers that talk more about despising money and being above all sordid considerations of gain and at the same time can be more easily and successfully bribed than artists. You can see the proof of this in the fact that most of them and the best of them are working for millionaires. They are building statues to get up in rich men's gardens and carving tombs for the deceased wives of pork packers.

Art follows money as trade follows the flag. For this reason art is decaying in Europe. The reason being that Europe has no more money to pay for it. Europe is poor and her magnificent ones are having hard work to keep up their retinue of servants, buy gas for their automobiles, pay the gambling debts, and supply the other necessities of life. They are not using much painting and sculpture these times.

For this reason any artist in Paris, Rome, Munich will howl to you as loud as any man does about the terrible conditions.

And because America has the money to pay for it, it is a class of people that have wealth to spend upon their ideals, the artist market for the work of the artist's hand is in Toledo, Buffalo and Kansas City. It is in Paris, Venice and Budapest.

In our present state of civilization, the artist, no way has yet been discovered to free the artist from the chains of wealth. So, possibly, when society shall have become sufficiently socialized, the artist may be free, and encouraged to create his ideals for the benefit of the whole people.

Politically, the world is democratic. Economically, the world is still under the feudal system, and as long as this is so the artist as well as the ecclesiastic will prosper only as he attaches himself to a patron.

THE LISTENING POST

It doesn't take strength enough this minute to do the tasks of your whole life. It takes only strength enough to do the task that is right at your hand. It does not even take strength enough for today and tomorrow. It takes only strength enough for today.

There was a lot of wisdom in that "take no thought for tomorrow." Even though some of our philosophers and teachers and preachers of thrift and care and all that need not take any thought for tomorrow. But we need to TAKE A LOT OF THOUGHT FOR TODAY.

And when we take a lot of thought for today, we will find that there will be plenty of strength for tomorrow. Today's structure will serve us well tomorrow. For tomorrow is as yet nothing at all. It does not exist.

Today is here now, vital and important. And this task I have to do is not tomorrow's task but today's. So I shall take all the thought I have for it. And do it well.

I shall not halve my energies by thinking of that task I am to do tomorrow. I shall not dilute my earnestness. I shall not have something in the back of my head opposing something in the front of my head. I shall give all of my effort and energy to the thing I am doing now.

And all the strength I need is strength enough for that. And when that task is done I shall need only strength enough for another. The carpenter drives one nail at a time. The smith deals one blow with his sledge at a time. The composer and the poet and the captain of industry deal with one thing at a time.

The pedestrian sets one foot firmly down on the path. And then he sets the other foot firmly down. And at the day's end he has gone far on his journey. Much farther than if he had stood on one foot for each time he stepped, and remained there poised and wondering how ever he was to finish his journey.

The greatest insurance for tomorrow's task is the doing of the task today. The greatest insurance of the future is the labor of the present moment. The morals of the future, the spirit of the future, the structure of the future, are being built NOW and HERE.

So it is well to take thought for today. Earnest and serious thought. To do the task that is to do now. With all the strength and courage we have. And to know that tomorrow and the future will take care of themselves. In the same day that today and now are being taken care of.

The present moment. The present task. The present spirit and energy and cheer. These are the little builders of life. The workman who are building the temple of achievement.

SONGS OF THE POETS

Twilight—By Olive Custance (1874—)

Spirit of Twilight, through your folded wings I catch a glimpse of your arched face, And rapturous on a sudden, my soul sings "Is not this common earth a holy place?"

Spirit of Twilight, you are like a song That sleeps, and waits a singer—like a hymn That God finds lovely and keeps near Him long, Till it is choired by aureoled cherubim.

Spirit of Twilight, in the golden gleam Of dreamland dim I sought you, and I found A woman sitting in a silent room Full of white flowers that moved and made no sound.

These white flowers were the thoughts you bring to all, And the room's name is Mystery where you sit, Woman whom we call Twilight, when night's pall You lift across our Earth to cover it.

EASTERN POINT OF VIEW

By HENRY JAMES

The state offered a bounty for the commission of crime, would the enforcement of the criminal law be much more uncertain and difficult than it is now?

One might almost say that the whole community is unconsciously a Society for the Encouragement and Protection of Crime. A few weeks ago a negro shot a policeman. He was liberated on parole from Blackwell's Island. He was notorious as a "cop-fighter." Naturally, such a reputation and such a character made him a proper subject for the tender mercies of the parole system.

On Thursday night he shot and killed two detectives. Except for the double killing, this is an old story. Released on bail, on suspended sentence, on parole, the dangerous criminal goes boldly out to rob and murder. He is fostered, shielded. The seeds of good are in the dear creature. Help them grow.

This sort of thing has got to stop. The body politic must learn to be kind to itself and severe, instead of snobbery, to its enemies. If the parole system is to be an invitation to new crime by old offenders, it should be given up. The suspended sentence system should be suspended until Messieurs les Assassins suspend the practice of their profession. High bail should be insisted upon in every case of violent crime. The amiable sentimentalists who dote on the "so interesting" criminals and would sacrifice indispensable punishment

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

At irregular intervals somebody puts forward the claim of ability to read character by handwriting. In a general way, there is something in this. Character may be read in the style of tie a man wears or the circumstance that he neglects his nails.

Whether a writer is careless or precise may be determined from his chirography. Whether he is stingy, morose, kind to his mother, or inclined to attend church regularly, may not be determined by such means, although the experts affirm the contrary.

The appearance of writing is due to training, to practice and circumstance. Many persons who once were capable of indicating a legible letter pen-fashion have utterly lost the knack, owing to introduction of the typewriter. The individual noticing this change in his own product, is not ready to admit any corresponding change in his character, his ambitions or the state of his morals.

It is to be hoped that the plan to reduce the army to 100,000 will fail.

A majority of Americans are definitely opposed to war, but the pacifist who thinks the country ought to abolish its police force is not a thoughtful person.

There seems to be an effort to annul the regulations that forbid the shipment of frozen fruit.

A man who answered the advertisement of a widow who had a house for sale, was conducted into the place. When hidden from public view he robbed the woman, and locking her in a closet, disappeared.

This is one of the incidents that show the wave of crime still to be splashing about, and it makes plain the necessity for caution.

Mr. Cox, who was a candidate for the presidency, may still face a rather dubious political outlook.

However, he has succeeded in acquiring the enmity of the Hearst papers. Whatever his ambitions, this is bound to help him a little.

For many years the name of Evelyn Nesbit has figured in the public prints. Gifted with beauty, but lacking brains, and wholly without wholesome home training, it is little wonder that her activities led her mostly into spectacular error. From the first time she achieved notoriety, the young woman was to be pitied, so clearly was she the victim of circumstance.

With her stage career over, her beauty faded, she sought to make an honest living in business, and still the fates seemed against her. Recently when she was said to have disappeared, there were rumors of suicide which proved unfounded.

Living or dead, she must be classed as one of the world's unfortunate.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

There is a bird on the other side of the street who is some sort of a professor of personality. He teaches you how to develop the inner YOU by mail, you know. After you've had ten lessons you are presumed to be just as overpowering and dominating as the professor himself.

You ought to see him. The poor little runt. His jaw is positively concave. He doesn't look at all like the pictures of Old Man Domineer, The Tyrant of the Town, with his undershot jaw and his sparkling eye and his law-giving forefinger and his general air of competence and ruthless force. The fact is that very few people do look like that. The only man I ever knew who looked like that lived in Fayette county, Ohio, where he married a rich wife and became the most dod-gasted liar that peaceful community was ever cursed with.

"I know I'm a fliv," said the professor last night, over a pipe and a mug of yeast tablets, "but the theory is all right, a' that."

I'll back him in that. The theory is all right, if you get the theory. The theory, as I understand it, is not to make your mental muscles so big and heavy that you are continually spoiling for a fight—which makes it a certainty that you will eventually get licked—but to enable you to be yourself. That is personality. The fake sort of personality that is put on like icing on a cake—that glaring eye and hard-set jaw and clinched muscles—peels off as easily as the icing. But the man who is really himself will always gain attention, if himself is worth being attended to. And if he isn't he can be made that way.

I have in mind a small, under-sized, soft-voiced, modest sort of a youngster when I say this. I've known him four years. He has always been pleasant and kindly and helpful and obliging and decent but until lately I never thought any more about him. Then something came up that made me devote several of my best hard thoughts to the young man. I discovered that I had always known that he is honest, clean-hearted, kind-natured and strong. He had been getting more so for the past four years. He has subjected himself to intensive culture. He has been rooting out mean thoughts if he ever had any, and breaking himself of the habit of saying cheap things if he ever had that habit.

I might never have noticed it if I had not learned that the youngster has just been taken into a form that will make him a rich man in ten years. If I had been looking for a man with personality—

"You'd have hunted for one with a lower jaw that pulls out like a bureau drawer," said the Professor of Personality with a bitter sneer.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY IS FONDLY MARKED

At the recent golden wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Collins, 817 East Wilson avenue, they received many fine gifts and good wishes in abundance, but the tribute most appreciated was one signed simply "Margaret," reading as follows: "We all rejoice over the opportunity to celebrate your 50th wedding anniversary and it is sweet to think that, though rough the way, you've come this far, and it did not seem long, for service is so very few in the world like you two. We who have had the privilege of observing your inner lives know that through love of service you happiness found, and that discounts all material ills. When twilight dreams descend you'll not be far from heaven."

Mr. Collins is a City war veteran and an honored member of the Glendale G. A. R. post.

P. E. O. HONORS ITS FIRST BRIDE

Chapter B. A. of the P. E. O. laid itself out to honor the first bride of the organization at a reception and shower given at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold on East Lomita avenue, Friday evening, for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kolts whose wedding occurred Wednesday evening. It was a B. I. L. party with an attendance of about 50 members and their husbands.

The Arnold home was decorated in the yellow and white P. E. O. colors, bowls of acacia bloom being distributed throughout the rooms in which guests were received.

The valentine motif featured the dining room, where a shower of hearts and cupidus were suspended from the chandelier above the table.

A brief program included vocal solos by the hostess, Mrs. Frank Arnold, and by Mrs. Greeley Kolts, mother of the bridegroom, who was accompanied on the piano by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Robert Kolts.

There was a reading by Miss Dorothy Williams, who is called the "baby" of the chapter, and gypsy dance, beautifully executed by Miss Margaret Brown.

Several jolly games were played and the evening's entertainment climaxed in a burlesque chapter meeting, over which Mrs. Freeman Kelley presided. It was followed by the initiation of the bridegroom into the affiliated B. I. L.'s. He and his bride were carefully blindfolded and instructed to follow the sound of the cymbal, very successfully imitated by an expert member with a pair of tin covers. Led by this sound, and marching to the strains of a wedding march played by Mrs. Kate Williams, pianiste of the chapter, the young people found themselves in the dining room, where the blinds were removed, and they discovered a table heavily laden with choice gifts from members of the chapter. Before the honorees could recover sufficiently to attempt acknowledgments, refreshments in which the yellow and white motif was repeated, were served, and the balance of the evening was given to more games.

Mr. and Mrs. Kolts are leaving today for Houston, Tex., having a surprise awaiting them there in a handsome hand-painted P. E. O. plate and a silver spoon, the special gift of the chapter, which is glad to honor the daughter of one of its best loved and charter members, Mrs. Carrie Willisford.

MRS. E. B. WARNER ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Mrs. E. B. Warner of 609 South Brand boulevard entertained a number of friends from Coulter's dry goods store on Friday night at 6 o'clock dinner. Valentine decorations were used throughout the house, such as hearts and red crepe paper. The table was decorated with a heart centerpiece, made of red roses and ferns. The favor baskets were red, filled with red candies, and valentines were used for place cards.

The guests for the evening included Miss A. Knauss, Mrs. A. Nolen, Miss M. Davies, Miss C. Somes and the hostess, Mrs. E. B. Warner. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing games.

GLEN EYRIE CHAPTER ENJOYS CARDS

An affair described as an old-fashioned card party but not at all that, was given by the Glen Eyrie chapter of the Eastern Star Friday evening at Masonic Temple, and proved a popular function, with an attendance of about 30. Love's patron saint, though invisible, presided, and the hosts and hostesses of the evening who acted as his lieutenants, distributed valentines which guests addressed and placed in the emergency "rural delivery" postoffice, E. U. Emery, Robert Grumbine, H. L. Redd and David Crofton serving as postmen to collect and distribute the tender missives. W. S. Rattray and Miss Mildred Lyon proved the popular favorites who received the largest number of valentines.

The balance of the evening was given to informal visiting and getting acquainted, the prime purpose for which the function was arranged. Judged by the good time which all participants appeared to have, the intent was accomplished.

A short business session preceded the party.

MISS BRADSHAW GIVES VALENTINE DANCE

Miss Irma Bradshaw of 1511 South Glendale avenue entertained Friday night with a charming valentine dance, given at the K. of P. hall, corner Park avenue and Brand boulevard, to about 50 of her friends.

The hall decorations carried out the valentine idea, and red balloons hung from the ceiling and various-sized hearts hung everywhere. Red crepe-paper streamers were also used. The banquet room was decorated with crepe paper streamers and on the tables were heart-shaped centerpieces.

Miss Bradshaw was assisted in receiving by her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bradshaw, and her guests included Miss Leona Hibbert, Miss Thelma Howe, Miss Marie McClain, Miss Caroline Blythe, Miss Katherine Long, Miss Cecelia Dellamore, Miss Doris Howe, Miss Louise Moniot, Miss Dorothy Howe, Miss Margaret Crawford, Miss Dorothy Patterson, Miss Thelma Goss, Miss May Sullivan, Miss Helen Neal, Miss Evelyn Sullivan, Miss Dorothy Carmack, Miss Hazel Maag, Miss Dorothy Danner and Miss Alice Ewing from Los Angeles; Messrs. HARPERS ENTERTAIN FOR LITTLE HEIR

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin W. Harper, 508 Fairmont avenue, entertained in celebration of the eighth birthday anniversary of their son, Talbot Edward Harper, February 10th, with a supper party. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hamilton and Miss Hope Harper assisted in the festivities. A beautiful cobweb of many bright colored strings was unrolled and an original game of throwing red wooden darts through a large wooden heart was enjoyed by the boys under the rose arbor.

Master Kingman Grigg was the winner and Master William A. Ace second in the contest. After these diversions, a two-course supper was served. The guests were, Masters Norman and Darrell Korb, Dana and Howard Van Leon, Kingman and Willard Grigg, William and Clinton Andree, Billy Gibbons, William McPherson, Richard Amm, Maxwell Smith, Dorsey Mottson, Weiten, Donald Hamilton, Orville Mullikin, Mrs. F. J. Gibbons and John Phillip Gibbons.

MILFORD STREET CARD CLUB PLAYS

The Milford Street Card club was entertained on Friday at a Valentine luncheon by Mrs. I. Vinton of Hollywood. Valentine decorations were carried out throughout the house. The table was decorated with hearts, red baskets with heart-shaped handles on top of which stood a tiny cupid bearing the name of the guest. A most enjoyable afternoon was spent in playing 500 and first prize was awarded Mrs. C. H. Thompson, and Mrs. Potter was awarded consolation prize. The guests included Mrs. H. McPherson, Mrs. J. F. Strain, Mrs. Reed Heustis, Mrs. H. D. Brummell, Mrs. Horace Hosford, Mrs. E. L. Young, Mrs. J. Southard, Mrs. C. H. Thompson, Mrs. W. N. Rathbun, Mrs. O. B. Howd, and Mrs. Potter.

Baldwin, 211 East Acacia avenue, between Brand and Glendale avenue.

PATRIOTIC MEETING IS SUCCESS

The patriotic program announced for the all-day meeting of N. P. Banks post and corps Friday drew a large attendance of veterans and corps members.

The business session held by the post in the forenoon was followed by a special luncheon, and that was succeeded by a program in the lodge hall in which five-minute speeches were made by Chaplain C. R. Norton, Commander Le Clair and Comrade Clark, who paid the tribute of the day to General U. S. Grant. Past Commander Robinson gave the tribute to Lincoln and Rev. Henry sang "Lead Kindly Light," which was the favorite song of President McKinley. Comrades Robert Taylor and T. M. Barrett sang in duet, Comrade Taylor sang in solo "The Old Army But-ton," Mrs. Teasdale was the pianiste of the afternoon. The program closed with the singing of "America" in unison.

party with whom he was conversing and left the telephone.

"He greeted me. He had just finished dinner and his man had cleared away the table, but he asked me if I would not let him have something prepared for me or go out to dinner with him."

I declined, explaining that I was tired and that I had an early studio call to make the next morning.

"I said that I intended to go home early, have dinner and go to bed. For 25 minutes Mr. Taylor and I sat discussing various books and photographs."

"About 20 minutes to 8 I prepared to start for home. Mr. Taylor walked with me to where my car was parked at the curb."

"There was a copy of the 'Police Gazette' in the car, which he noticed. He chided me for having it in my possession, remarking that Freud, Haeckel and Nietzsche were hardly compatible with such literature."

"After an exchange of remarks for a few minutes, I finally bade him good night and directed my chauffeur to drive me home."

"Before I left Mr. Taylor promised to phone me at my home within an hour. He never did."

"As William (my chauffeur) pulled away from the curb, I looked back and saw Mr. Taylor standing there, gazing after me. I waved my hand. That was the last time I ever saw Mr. Taylor alive."

"Then in a few minutes I was at my home. I immediately retired, having dinner served to me in my bed about 8:15."

"The first knowledge I had of Mr. Taylor's death was when Edna Purviance phoned me the following morning about 7:30. She told me that Mr. Taylor's valet had been seen rushing from Mr. Taylor's home, screaming that his master was dead."

"I have no idea who killed Mr. Taylor or what was the reason for his death. I would be only too proud to announce the fact had I been engaged to Mr. Taylor, but such a statement would be an absolute untruth."

"I held Mr. Taylor in the highest esteem, regarding him as a very learned, cultured gentleman, with whom many women might be proud to associate."

"Mr. Taylor and I had much in common and during the long period of our friendship he aided me materially in my study of the French language and philosophy, in which I had been interested for some time. I am also interested in other things now."

"So far as revealing the contents of any letters written by Mr. Taylor to me or by me to Mr. Taylor is concerned, I have no reason to fear any consequences which might result from such disclosures except the natural embarrassment of having personal correspondence revealed to the public gaze."

THE SEALS PLAN A JOKE ON SHEM

By JOHN BARTON
(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

"I don't know who was the most surprised," Dr. Muskrat reflectively continued his story. "I don't really know whether the first squirrel was the most startled to hear about the Ark or the big he-seal to learn that she didn't know about it. Her mate didn't count 'cause he didn't care about anything but his sore tail."

"Ark? Why The Ark, the only one there is, the one we all sailed on—though to tell the truth I don't remember seeing you." (That was because those two little woodchuck cousins of theirs had stayed hidden so well.) The seal licked his head with his funny fish-foot that has its toe-claws fixed so he can't scratch with them. Then he slanted his funny brown eye at his wife and shut up one slit of a nostril while he puffed softly through the other one, kind of as if he was winking with it. "I don't know what you're thinking about," said she. "But I certainly didn't see them." "Eh? Woosh! What a joke we have on Shem. Member how he told us we ought to be grateful for that horrid choky may he made us at? Member when he said nobody'd live through the Flood 'lessen he and Mister Noah took care of them? Well, these folks have."

"Have they? snuffed the lady seal, looking very dubiously at the sick one. "Well, the Flood isn't over yet. Maybe we'd better carry this fellow back to the Ark and see what Shem will do about him."

"Do? Do? he bellowed back. "He'd feed it some hay, same as we fed us. Then he and Mrs. Noah would go back to their eternal arguying about the steering and forget all about him. Think I'm going to let that lump of conceit who walks on his hind legs (meanin' Shem) think there's nobody left alive who can get on without him? I'll show him. Urffshew!"

"With that he blew all the water out of his two squinty slits of a nose, closed up his ears as if he were drawing in his ear-lobes and puckering strings, and Kerflop! His fish-tail feet stuck straight up in the air as he disappeared."

"Down, down, down dove the big he-seal—deeper than anybody in the world except old Fluke-thrash-er Whale his own self. And it seemed most half a day before ever he came up again. "Whoosh!" he gasped. "I've done it. If there any help left in Mother Nature's good old earth for your disabled

PETER FERRY IS BUSY CONTRACTOR

Peter L. Ferry has been awarded the contract for putting a street through the Olmstead property, running west from Pacific and north of the Glenwood road. This work will consist of grading, and paving with surface of oil and screened rock, sidewalk curbing, and 4-inch water main. The contract price of this job is $10,000, stern-dipper, little 'un, here it comes."

"And he sloshed the poor hurt tall with the nicest black mud poultice ever you put a paw in."

NEXT STORY: "IT'S THE TAIL THAT MAKES THE BEAST."

The Kind of Minute
"I wonder if my little boy knows how many seconds there are in a minute?"
"Do you mean a real minute, mother, or one of those great big wait-a-minutes?" — Boston Transcript.

Another piece of work that Mr. Ferry has been awarded the contract for is the street to be run through the Norton tract north from Glenwood road. This work is being done by Roy D. King, 106 East California street. The contract price is $6000 and will include graded, oiled and rocked roadway, sidewalk, curbing and 4 inch water main.

MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD HERE

The post memorial services of N. P. Banks Post No. 170, G. A. R., for the members of the post who have answered the call of the Great Commander during the past, which was to have been held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, have been postponed until one week from Sunday. The services were postponed by request.

The announcement of the later

"Now, children," said the teacher of the juvenile class, "can any of you tell me the meaning of 'vice versa'?"
"Yes'm, I can," replied the youngster at the foot of the class. "Well, Billie, what is it?"
"It's when you sleep with your feet toward the head of the bed," answered Billie triumphantly.

date for the services is being made by T. M. Baird, patriotic commander of the N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R.

WHICH?

JAMES W. FOLEY

There are those who labor and those who shirk.
The world's made up of the classes two;
There are those who watch while others work,
And are full of the things they are going to do;

You've got to make up your mind right now,
It's for you to say if you've got horse sense:
Are you going to put your hand to the plow
Or are you going to sit on the fence?

The field's out there and the day is bright,
There's a plow in the furrow, a place for you,

There's a lark's clear song at the morning light
And a world of things that a man can do.
But the time is now—you must lift your voice,
Ere the dusk has come and the day gone
hence.

Will you slack or work? You must make a choice:
Are you going to plow or sit on the fence?

It's simple enough and plain as day,
It's all as easy as A B C.

And never a power but you can say
What kind of a choice it's going to be.

You can be a Man with your brow all wet,
And a joy in your work that is just immense,

But it's up to you to slack or sweat:
Are you going to plow or sit on the fence?

CITY BUS PERMIT IS REQUESTED

busses into the city of Los Angeles for the same purpose as that which has been the means of driving Glendale to this action, and further that in granting a permit of this kind at this time, it may cause traffic complications, first, allow me to state that I believe that it is the duty of this honorable board to weigh carefully, as suggested by one of the members of this board, before granting permission as prayed for, to seek all possible information that would help this board in determining the fair and proper course to follow.

"The city of Glendale and myself have accumulated a great deal of very valuable information, facts and data regarding this manner of transportation in cities and here by tender and offer to cooperate and furnish all possible aid and information to help this honorable board to determine the proper course.

"I further call your attention to the findings of the railroad commission in the recent Pacific Electric railway application for increased rates where they say that motor busses should be given an opportunity to prove their usefulness as a means of successful transportation, and that there are plenty of facts and examples to be had that will bear out my statements."

"The application stated that the city of Glendale did not intend to carry on a business of transporting local passengers in the city of Los Angeles. No one will be allowed to ride on the motorbusses within the corporate limits of the city of Los Angeles except through passengers from Glendale and that no local passengers would be taken from the Los Angeles terminal of the line.

The application cites several reasons why motor bus transportation is more practical than electric transportation. A few of these reasons cited are as follows:

First: The motor bus can move more people per seat than can be moved by the trolley car and can be moved in a great deal less time. Approximately 25 to 50 per cent is saved in time.

Second: The trolley car operating on fixed tracks and crossings is responsible for a great deal of the traffic congestion common in cities of all size while the motor bus is flexible in its operation and adjusts itself to the traffic, swings around the slower vehicle, is not impeded and does not impede.

Third: The motor bus does not require tracks and in this will assist the cities to keep their streets in better order and at less cost.

Fourth: Loading and unloading at the curb, the motor bus relieves one serious cause of traffic congestion. The constant stopping of streams of traffic is caused by the loading and unloading of trolley cars in the middle of the streets. This method of loading and unloading would also have an important part in eliminating the danger to pedestrians crossing the current traffic to board a street car.

Fifth: It is a well known fact that when street cars break down or fail to proceed, the traffic is tied up sometime for hours, whereas the flexibility of motorbuses permits them to proceed around the stalled vehicle or in the event of other obstructions in the street that are impassable to alter its course via other streets.

Sixth: Motorbus operation under public ownership, as we are going to do, will be doubly profitable to the people of the city. It will preserve to them the 5 cent fare, saving for them the extra cents and nickels demanded by the traction interests for service over their slower, uneconomical lines. It will moreover earn profits for the city and thus supply funds for

BUSINESS IS GOOD SAYS C. E. NEALE

"Business is better now than it ever has been," said C. E. Neale of the Neale & Gregg Hardware company, 107 North Brand boulevard. "Our sales during January, 1922 ran 20 per cent greater than they did in the same month last year, which shows that we are growing with Glendale. Present indications are that future business will be better than ever, and we are greatly encouraged over the prospects."

A real classy display of valentines is to be found at the Neale & Gregg store. There is everything from the "comics" for the children and those who have reached the age of "second childhood," to the fancy ones to the "dreaming lover."

ELKS TO VISIT MISSION PLAY

The Elks of Southern California, upon the suggestion of Alhambra lodge No. 1328, will celebrate Washington's birthday this year by attending a performance of the Mission Play at San Gabriel on the evening of February 22.

Pre-eminently American in its character, the B. P. O. E. pays particular homage to the memory of the Father of our Country, and no more appropriate celebration in his honor could be made than by a visit to the great American historical pageant at San Gabriel which was written and produced by John Steven McGroarty, a distinguished member of the order. Frederick Warde, the grand old actor who portrays the leading role of Father Junipero Serra in the Mission Play, is also a distinguished Elk. At the close of the performance Mr. Warde, assisted by Elks from the various lodges in attendance, will give the Elks' famous "11 o'clock toast" from the stage. And after that, Alhambra lodge will hold a reception in the clubhouse at which Mr. Warde and Mr. McGroarty will deliver addresses. Refreshments will be served and there will also be dancing.

EDITORIALS

By the People

Glendale, Feb. 9, 1922.
Editor Glendale Daily Press:
In your paper tonight, I notice a letter by "Constant Reader" to your Prosperity Editor. I agree with the view as expressed. On the other hand your Prosperity Editor redeemed himself in his usually good style by granting the request.

Now then, people in almost every community dislike to write their views to the paper, for fear of being called a "knocker" or "kicker," when, if the truth be known, they are often the most conscientious and enthusiastic "boosters" in your midst. I am for Glendale, "horse, foot, and dragon," but I am going to say this in addition to your Prosperity Editor fact, and the readers may call me "knocker," "kicker" or "booster," as they wish. It is this—If Glendale don't put in an electric fire alarm they will wake up some morning with a big fire loss on their hands. I have been through the mill and know what I am talking about. Another point from a business standpoint: an electric alarm increases the efficiency of our already efficient fire department, and thereby reduces insurance rates.

Your telephone service is slower than the traditional "molasses in January." If the answer fire calls as they do, business calls, half Glendale can burn down before the fire department gets wind of it.

NORTHWEST FIRE HOUSE PLANNED

Chief Draws Up Plans for Bungalow on Wilcox Land

Fire Chief Lankford has draughted a tentative set of plans for a bungalow fire house to be erected in the northwest section of the city, on property to be donated by Harry C. Wilcox. These plans were draughted and recently presented to the members of the city council for their approval. Nothing definite in the way of planning the erection of the firehouse has been done other than receiving the offer of the property to be used and discussing the plans.

If the house is built it will be just west of Grandview avenue and on the corner of Sixth street and a proposed street that has not been cut through. The structure will be only one story and from the outside will resemble the average California bungalow and will cover 38 by 40 feet of floor space. There will be room to house one fire engine in addition to four or five sleeping rooms for the men assigned to the station.

It has not been decided as yet whether the structure will be of stucco or of weatherboard. This will be decided after the plans have been adopted and the city decides to build the station.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT EAGLE ROCK

The third sermon in the series on "The Prayer Life of the Christian," will be preached Sunday morning by Dr. John Hedley, pastor of the Methodist church, and will deal with "Praying in the Holy Spirit." As usual, it will be preceded by a sermonette for the children. His topic tomorrow, "Our Menagerie," will appeal to the curiosity of the little folk. At the 6:30 Epworth League meeting, chapter six of the book, "John Wesley, Jr." will be studied. It takes up the racial question, in which the church must assume an active part. Commemorating the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the Sunday evening address of the pastor will be on "The Emancipator," and the choir will render patriotic songs and negro melodies.

"Are We Living in an Age of Revolt?" will be the question considered by Rev. E. Morgan Isaac, in the Congregational Church Sunday morning. It refers to the religious and intellectual world, not that of industrial anarchy. In the evening he will give a review of John Burroughs' last book, "Accepting the Universe," which states what he believed about God, the origin of life, religion, nature, and other things of paramount importance to the world. Mrs. Elderkin's chorus choir is now quite large and renders beautiful anthems and solos at each service. The Sunday school greatly needs larger quarters, and Mrs. Fisk's Bible class for adults crowds the tent. Young people's meeting is at 6:30.

Rev. B. B. Weather's subject Sunday morning in the Presbyterian church, is not announced. Rev. Lynn Townsend White, D. D., head of the department of sociology in San Francisco Theological Seminary, will preach in the evening on "Living by Imagination, but Not by Fancy." He is considered one of the strongest preachers in Northern California, and has come to Eagle Rock to begin a series of conferences at Occidental College next week. Miss Gladys Stewart will sing solos at each service tomorrow. The Presbyterian Sunday school is very large and active, and Christian Endeavor meetings are held at 5:15 and 6:15 p. m. The Seniors and Intermediates enjoyed a hike to Switzer's camp last week about 60 of them, conducted by Dr. W. D. Ward and Mrs. W. O. Johnston. They remained all night at the camp and hiked back the next day.

There will be a service at St. Barnabas Episcopal church at 11 a. m., Sunday school at 9:45, and evening service at 7:30, with a sermon by the rector, Rev. Robert Remond.

Christian Science services are at 11 a. m. on Sunday, with Sunday school at 9:45. Experience meetings every Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

Catholic services are at 8 and 10 a. m., every Sunday, in the recently completed St. Dominick's chapel hall, at the corner of Linden Way and Myrtle avenue.

UPKEEP MAIN ITEM OF COST IN CARS

"After all it is not a question alone of 'first cost' when the purchase of an automobile is being considered," said the manager of the Sunset Motor Car company of East Colorado street. "This initial cost is very often the smallest cost when the actual operating costs of the car are concerned. Some cars are continually needing repairs, which in a short time runs way up into real money. As these costs pile up the first cost is gradually lost sight of."

"This is not the case with the Dort car. Everyone knows that the first cost of the Dort is the large cost. The operating expenses on this machine are very low. The gasoline and tire mileage is high, and as the mechanical parts of the car need very few repairs, it naturally follows that the general upkeep cost is small."

HI-Y ATHLETES AGAIN BANNER BEARERS

Carry Off Top Honors of Southland a Second Time

Rex Kelly, Y. M. C. A. secretary in Glendale, announced today that the Hi-Y of the Glendale Union High School has again carried off the honors of the state by winning the banner awarded for the best monthly program of activities. Last month the Glendale Hi-Y won this award, bringing the banner to the southern part of the state for the second time in two years, during which it has been competed for. The boys say they took it this time just to show eighty other clubs scattered over the state that the first winning was not an accident. The boys and their leaders are more determined than ever to keep Glendale on the map so far as the young people are concerned.

Saturday night the club leaders of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at the First Presbyterian church for supper, at which affair the program for the next two weeks will be arranged. W. C. Boyd is president and S. H. Wilcox is secretary of the group leaders club.

Charlie Padlock, the champion short distance runner of the world, will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the various groups of the Hi-Y of Glendale, this event to be held in the First Methodist church. Dinner will be served at 6:30, after which a program of speeches and music will be given.

SHRINE CLUB DANCE SET FOR FEB. 8

Another of those extremely enjoyable dances will be given by the Shrine Club of Glendale next Wednesday night. This affair will be in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium and will be attended only by members of this organization and their wives. The same excellent Pasadena orchestra that was present at the Shrine dance given a short time ago has been engaged for next Wednesday evening. The details of this dance are being arranged by the entertainment, music and refreshment committee of the club.
